This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Born March 12th 1783 died Janry 12th 1858 | SOPHIA BARLOW Widow of HENRY BARLOW | Born 16th April 1782 died (14th ?) Janry 1864.

In 1859 was printed privately a pamphlet of 32 pages entitled "Henry Barlow, of Newington Butts, a memoir in memoriam," from which the following notes relative to the family are extracted:—

Joseph Barlow at the age of fifty-five migrated from Bermondsey to Newington, and taking a ninety-nine years' lease of a portion of the Church field, built the two rows of houses known as Church Row and Churchyard Row. He married Ann Upton, by whom he had nine children. He died in 1792 at the age of eighty-two, eleven years after the death of his wife. His burial is recorded in the Register on November 5th, 1792, and he lies buried in the grave in Newington Churchyard. Of the nine children born to him only one survived him, namely Joseph his eldest son, born at Deptford on the morning of Ash Wednesday, February 23rd, 1736-7; this Joseph married on July 3rd, 1767, at St. Paul's, Deptford, Sarah Storey, of that place, daughter of Thomas Storey, who sailed round the world in the "Centurion" with Lord Anson. By this marriage he had issue eleven children, the eldest of whom was Elizabeth Ann, the youngest the subject of the memoir, Henry Barlow; all the others except George, the seventh in succession, died very young. Joseph Barlow was Master of the Tallow Chandlers' Company; he resided at No. 14, Churchyard Row, where he died without making any will, on February 9th, 1804, and Sarah his wife on October 16th, 1820, and their names are the first now recorded on the family vault.

Of the three children who survived their father, the eldest was Elizabeth Ann, but of her the Memoir makes no further remarks, although it may be assumed that she married Joseph Carter, as the inscription records the deaths of these two persons. Of the next child, George Barlow, the Memoir is almost silent, and beyond the facts that he was improvident and died some eighteen months before his younger brother Henry, leaves us in doubt as to whether he was married or not. Of the youngest child, Henry Barlow, we find that he was born March 12th, 1783, at No. 1, Barlow's Row, Bermondsey; at six years of age he was sent to a boarding-school at Hayes, near Bromley, from thence to a larger school at Mitcham, and on the family coming to reside at Newington in 1794, he finished his education in Kennington Lane. He chose the profession of a sailor, and in 1798, at the age of 14, went his first trip to Ireland; in 1799 he entered the service of the Hon. East India Company, and made his first voyage to China in the "Warley." In 1804, on board the "Warley," he, as fourth officer, took part in the naval fight of the East India Company's homeward-bound fleet with the squadron of French men-of-war, near the Strait of Malacca on the 15th of February, and on the return of the fleet to England, he, on the 25th August of the same year, quitted the ship and ended the life of a sailor, his father having died in his absence. On the 17th of August, 1805, at Bermondsey Church, he at the age of 22 married Sophia, the youngest of three daughters of Thomas Clark, solicitor, deceased, she being a few months older. Prior to her marriage, Sophia resided with her mother in Churchyard Row, her two sisters being married already. After the honeymoon they returned to the family Row at Newington, and here their only child was born. From 1808 to 1822 they resided in Gravesend, where Henry Barlow filled a responsible appointment connected with the Revenue, but they returned to Churchyard Row, Newington. He died on Tuesday morning, January 12th, 1858, aged seventy-four years and ten months, and was buried in the cemetery at Norwood on January 18th, and Sophia his wife in 1864. Though Henry Barlow made no pretensions to authorship, he nevertheless compiled ten volumes of extracts extending over a period of fifty years. The only child of Henry and Sophia Barlow was originally brought up as an architect, but returned from the University of Edinburgh in 1837 with the diploma of Doctor of Medicine, Lyson informs us that against a pillar of the nave was a monument to Richard Boulton, who died in 1750. Manning and Bray, in their History of Surrey, vol. iii. p. 451, there state that this monument was lost on the rebuilding of the church in 1791, but neither of them mention this tablet, although the deaths recorded on it are of earlier dates. When the above was copied for this publication it was nearly buried in the earth, and only with difficulty could the inscription be read. The tablet is rounded, and such as would have been affixed to a pillar.

his Age | THOMAS[1], only Son of GEORGE and MARY ANN HOLLIS | departed this life the 14th of October 1843 | in the 26th Year of his Age.

George Hollis, born at Oxford, was the son of George Hollis, who kept the "Maidenhead" Hotel, in the parish of All Saints in that city. He married in 1815 Mary Ann, eldest daughter of John Buckler, F.S.A.; she died in 1869.

1842 "January 2, Mr. George Hollis died in Gloucester Buildings, Walworth, aged 49. He was a native of Oxford, and a pupil of the late Mr. George Cooke, the celebrated line engraver, under whose instruction he became one of the most efficient engravers of his time. He contributed largely to Sir R. C. Hoare's 'History of Wiltshire,' Warner's 'Glastonbury Abbey,' Owen and Blakeway's 'Shrewsbury,' Ormerod's 'Cheshire,' and Hunter's 'Hallamshire.' In 1818 he published six views of Chudleigh, after drawings by H. De Corte. He also engraved a series of plates of the Colleges and Halls at Oxford, and some of his most beautiful productions on copper are to be found in the publications of the Dilettante Society. In 1837 he was engaged to engrave a large plate from a painting by J. W. M. Turner, which painting was exhibited at the Royal Academy of the preceding year, and which plate was in 1842 unpublished. Amongst other works he commenced in conjunction with his son a continuation of Stothard's 'Monumental Effigies,' of which work five numbers appeared."—Gentleman's Magazine, March, 1842.

October 14th, in Apollo Buildings, Walworth, aged 25, Mr. Thomas Hollis, a rising artist, prematurely cut off at his entry into a profession of which he gave early promise of his ability to prove himself a distinguished member. He was the only son of Mr. George Hollis, and grandson of John Buckler, F.S.A. From his earliest youth he evinced a great fondness for the arts, and employed his leisure in sketching from nature, in the neighbourhood of Montmartre, where his father then resided. In April, 1836, he was admitted a student to the Royal Academy, and afterwards became a pupil of Mr. Pickersgill, the portrait painter. In 1839, in conjunction with his father, he commenced the work on Sepulchral Effigies, the first part of which was published in 1840, for which work he made the drawings. After the death of his father in 1842, he etched the plates as well as prepared the drawings. The too close application to his profession, with the laudable hope of adding to the comforts of a widowed mother, proved too great for his powers, and he died of a rapid consumption. For a more extended notice, see Gentleman's Magazine, January, 1844.
